

TERROIRSENSE
WINE REVIEW

2017

Barbaresco
Maria di Brun
95

Deep red. Perfumed, forward aromas of flavours of fresh red cherries, tobacco and sweet spices. Big, broad and quite tannic, but with good floral lift and concentration of fruit to stand up to the tannins. Forget about this baby in your cellar for the next ten years and then get ready to be rewarded for your patience. The grapes for this wine were actually harvested after the grapes used to make their Barolo! This is a major success in what was not an easy vintage, so well done!
